Social Security

Wage Base for 2004 $87,900

Retirees under 65 may earn up to $11,640 ($970 a month). For each $2 earned over the amount for the year, the retiree loses $1 in benefits. Retirees turning 65 in 2004 can earn up to $31,080 in the year without losing benefits, counting only earnings before the month they turn 65. For each $3 earned over this limit, the retiree loses $1 in benefits. No limit if 65 or over, effective January 1, 2000.

As you work and pay Social Security taxes, you earn "Credits", up to a maximum of 4 for each year. The amount of earnings it takes to earn a credit changes each year. In 2004, you earn one credit for each $900 of your earnings. So if you have earned at least $3,600 during the year, you get the maximum 4 credits.

Last Minute Tax Tips

If you're eligible to make a 2003 Roth IRA contribution, plan to do it by April 15, 2004, if not sooner. If you're not eligible for a Roth IRA due to income limitations, evaluate the choice to make a traditional non-deductible IRA contribution instead. The contribution amounts are $3,000 for under 50 years old, and $3,500 if 50 by 12/31/03.

Maximize your 401(k) or 403(b) contributions to your employer's plan. If you cannot maximize the contribution, be sure you put in at least the amount that gets you the maximum employer matching contribution.

Small business owners: review your retirement plan options and consider a Safe Harbor 401(k) Plan or a Cross-tested Plan for 2004.

IRS Guidelines on Loans to Stockholders

The IRS has released a comprehensive Market Segment Specialization Program Audit Technique Guide on Shareholder Loans that highlights the problem areas that IRS agents will watch for when reviewing loans between shareholders and their corporations.

The first question that the IRS will ask when examining an amount classified as a stockholder loan is whether there is a bona fide debt. The primary determination as to whether or not the debt is bona fide hinges on the key question: When the loan was made, was there a genuine intent that the borrowed funds would be repaid?

Other key determining factors include:

- 1) the extent the stockholder controls the corporation
- 2) whether any security was given
- 3) whether the stockholder is in a position to repay the loan
- 4) whether the corporation has any earnings and profits
- 5) supporting documentation, e.g., promissory note
- 6) the repayment schedule and compliance with the terms of the loan agreement
- 7) the maturity date
- 8) whether the corporation charges interest
- 9) the corporation's efforts to obtain repayment
- 10) magnitude of the loan
- 11) whether a ceiling exists to limit the amount the corporation can loan
- 12) dividend history of corporation

IRS will view this issue taking in all the key factors as a whole, but their tendency will be to view the loan payments to the stockholders as dividends.

Even when these factors indicate a bona fide loan, the corporation must still comply with certain rules regarding the yearly inclusion of interest income. IRC Sec 1272 requires the corporation to include interest income on a semiannual basis as it "economically accrues" the interest. This effectively makes puts taxpayers on the accrual basis of accounting when it comes to the recognition of interest income. These rules apply even when a market rate of interest is stated in the loan agreement, and whether or not the parties involved are cash-basis taxpayers.

There are provisions that make exceptions if the aggregate amount of loans outstanding does not exceed $10,000.

Any corporation with loans either to a stockholder or from a stockholder should review these rules. For more information, visit the IRS Website at <http://www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=108149,00.html>

Entity Selection

If you are a sole proprietor, review with your attorney the liability protection available to a one-member limited liability company without changing your tax reporting status.

If a C Corporation, review the advantages available by electing Subchapter S corporate status. The deadline for making this election for 2004 is March 15th. You may be able to reduce your payroll taxes by taking a lower salary, with the remaining profit distributed as a dividend (subject only to income taxes); reduce the income taxes on the sale of the business; enjoy the flow-through of tax credits; and reduce audit risk and exposure.

The conversion from a C Corporation to an S-Corporation requires some planning due to the ten-year taint on the sale of appreciated assets and the tax on built-in gains.

New Hire Reporting Requirements

Effective October 1, 1997, state and federal law requires all employers to report each new and rehired employee to the State Directory of New Hires. Employers must provide all the required information within 20 calendar days of the employee's first day of work. Failure to report newly hired or rehired employees could result in penalty.

Most jurisdictions have methods to report using mail, email, fax, or on-line.

Using our Tax Return Organizer saves us time and, therefore, saves you money on the preparation of your tax return. If you didn't get one, and you would like one, please give us a call or go to our website.

We now have the Organizer available in electronic format for those that are more "techie" oriented. The potential time savings in using this method is significant and can help keep our fees down. For example, the amount of time to send out the E-Organizers to the clients for whom we had email addresses took about 15-20 minutes. Unfortunately, about 25% of those clients responded saying that their virus and security software had blocked or removed the attachment that was the E-Organizer. So I sent out a second email changing the format of the E-Organizer so that it would be able to get past the protective software but made it more involved for you to open the E-Organizer. In addition, I prepared the traditional hard-copies of the Organizers and mailed those out. It took about 8 hours to prepare and mail the hard copies, plus obviously the cost of supplies, postage and wear & tear on the printer. The E-Organizers were only sent to about one-third of the all clients receiving Organizers.

Also, when you complete and return the E-Organizer, there should be a reduction in time required to input the information into the tax program, although this may be offset by the time required to verify the data input.

So, although the E-Organizer has had a less than stellar beginning, it is still worth the effort to give it a good test this tax season. I will evaluate the system as we progress through the next few months. If you have any questions about this, just call.
